He spoke of the C.S.E.T. and C.G. 17, this contribution in connection with the church as well as the educational features of the church present to avail themselves of the opportunities the church was offering to a single child, independent given in the church. He concluded by saying that the church was glad to have the service on Sunday evening when he would give an address of special interest to those of high school age.

"The Youth Movement." On Sunday evening the high school pupils turned out in goodly numbers to the United church when Mr. Irwin spoke of "The Youth Movement." He said that the youth movement was just a new name in modern times as the feminist movement and outlined a number of reasons playing to create a "New Youth" which differs from the youth of former days in that it is independent to parental and traditional authority, and shows a tendency to create standards for itself independent of the old status in which the youth was expected to follow in.

A NATIONAL CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Because trade and commerce has become the most vital factor in American existence, the United States National Chamber of Commerce is gradually and intelligently expanding, so far as business is concerned, the authority of the United States Government.

There should be a National Commerce in Canada.

Politics has become professionalized. The average politician is as far away from the actual problems of Canadian business as a Fiji Islander. Even the business man who goes into politics usually acquires the political frame of mind and gradually loses the economic frame of mind.

That is why, when it comes down to legislation in the interests of business and commerce, the Government of Canada, like every other government, simply founders.

The chambers of commerce and boards of trade of the various Canadian towns and cities are doing excellent useful work. A National Chamber of Commerce, meeting once a year to determine and lay down trade policies, would co-ordinate their efforts, advance the commercial unity of the Dominion and give the Government the lead it needs.
It would give the business men of Canada a real hand in Canada's government.

NINTH MONTH

Crickets are making
The merriest din,
All the fields awaking
With shrill violin.
Now all the swallows Debate when to go;
In valleys and hollows
The misters are like snow.

Dahlias are glowing In purple and red
Where once were growing Pale roses instead....
Early lamps burning
So soon the night falls, Leaves, crimson turning,
Make bright the stone walls.

Summer recalling
At turn of the year,
Fruit will be falling,
September is here.

MEETING OF LOCAL COUNCIL OF WOMEN

The Local Council of Women met in the Parish Hall on September 28th. Owing to the absence of the President, Mrs. Muir one of the Vice-Presidents, Mrs. Brown occupied the chair. After the usual routine of business, the secretary brought the work of the League of Nations before the meeting. The Macleod Local Council is a corporate member of the Canadian Society of the League of Nations, and those present were interested in hearing of the great things that had been accomplished during the present year by the League. While in Vancouver Mrs. Edwards had an opportunity of visiting the Industrial School for girls and she spoke of the wonderful work being done under the present management.
It was decided to hold the Annual Baby Clinic and if possible to send a delegate to the Annual meeting of the Provincial Executive to be held in Calgary in October.
An address by Mrs. O. C. Edwards describing the vast amount of work done during the last year by the National Council of Women re-

BACKWARD GLANCE

Summer gave one backward glance
And smiled along the brook,
And all the feathered goldenrod
Their faded headgear shook.

The stream coquetted with the sun,
Who dangled along the bank,
Who dropped his jewels down,
Who caught each one and made herself
A gem-embroidered gown.

The green of grasses lived again
While Summer turned her head, But when they hung their generous out,
The laughing maid had fled.

BRITISH GUNBOATS TO SAVE SITUATION

Shanghai, Oct. 6.—A message received here from Hankow says that during an anti-British meeting held here yesterday in protest against British recent firing upon and killing of Chinese at Wanshan for having made attacks upon them, much anti-British literature was disseminated. British marines prevented the demonstrators from entering the British concession.
The British gunboat Mantis and the steamer Diowa, which has been converted into a British naval es-sel, have left Wanshan for Chung King, where it is reported officers are being made to intimidate Chinese employees of British residents.

Also! the girl with sense enough to be an ideal servant gets a husband and keeps house for nothing.

Man is queer. He'll swat a little ball and cuss it heartily, and then get mad if it hides in the weeds.

The thing that did more than anything else to popularize sleeping porches was pajamas.
